Truman Studies Seizure Of U. S. Railroads

PRESIDENT SAYS ROADS MUST BE KEPT RUNNING

Coal Dispute Nearing Strike Against Government,
Reporters Told

WASHINGTON, May 9—President Truman said today he was contemplating government seizure of the railroads if necessary to keep them running.

At the same time the President said in regard to the coal strike:

1. It is slowly approaching the status of a strike against the government.
2. He is considering calling in John L. Lewis, head of the mine workers union, and the mine operators for a joint conference.

The President was openly worried about the coal situation, but preferred not to discuss it in any detail.

He had little positive information about the threatened railroad strike and what he planned to do about it, except to say in response to a question that he did have seizure under consideration if it took that to keep the railroads operating.

He was hit by numerous questions regarding coal and said in essence that:

He felt he had used his full powers in an effort to end the strike. A survey is now in progress concerning what authority Mr. Truman might have to end the coal strike without the acquiescence of Lewis.

When asked whether he thought the coal strike had reached the stage of a strike against the government, the President thoughtfully, seriously said the strike was slowly and steadily approaching that state.

When a reporter sought his opinion on whether a union should be permitted to collect a royalty on production, Mr. Truman said he thought the Wagner labor relations act prevented that.

Mr. Truman, in answering questions about the legislative aspect of his current labor troubles, recalled that he had asked congress last December for a law to set up fact-finding boards for nationwide disputes and the statutory enactment of "cooling-off" periods.

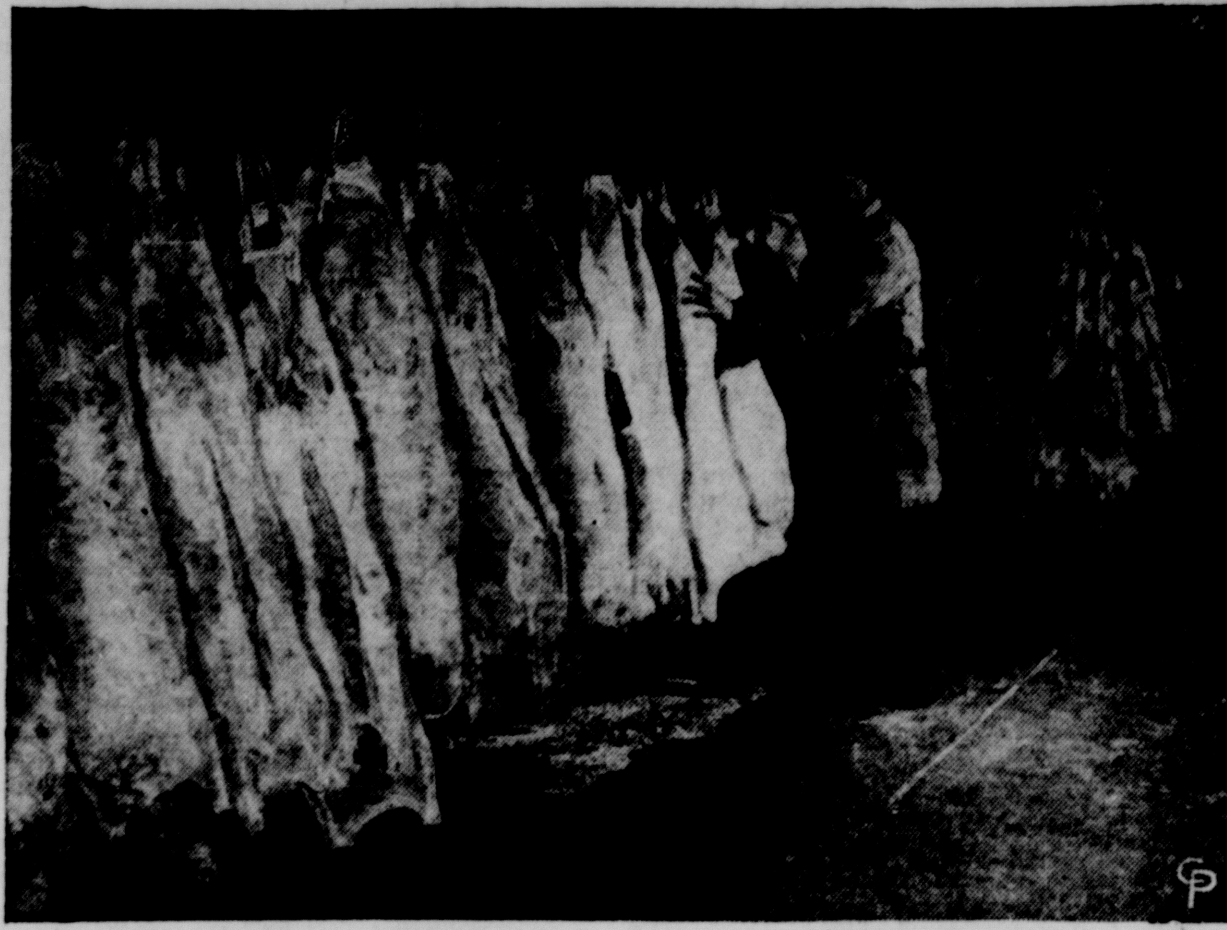

Asked whether he still wanted that legislation, Mr. Truman said he thought it would be a good thing to have now.

He declined to discuss proposals in congress for the passage of new and expanded authority which would penalize workers who refused to return to work in industries seized by the government. Mr. Truman said he had not given this matter any study.

A reporter asked Mr. Truman whether, instead of answering the often unrelated questions about the labor picture, would he talk generally about the coal strike and the issue it presented to the nation.

The President thought for a moment and said he would rather not—today. He said he would have something to say to the reporters about the coal strike at a later date. When asked whether this might mean a report to the people, the President shook his head and said he had not thought of it.

COAL SHORTAGE THREATENS FOOD SPOILAGE

CONTINUANCE OF THE COAL STRIKE will strike a telling blow at the stomach of America. In the big cities, especially where a great percentage of the food is stored in refrigerating warehouses, like the one in New York City, pictured above, lack of power for refrigeration will result in spoilage of millions of pounds of food. ## CONFEREES SET Pickaway Grand Jury TO LEAVE PARIS Returns 24 Indictments

Byrnes And Bevin Discuss Strategy If Russians
Reject Peace Date

PARIS, May 9—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin today conferred on what strategy to follow if Russia rejects the American proposal for a full dress peace conference in Paris June 15.

Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov has the peace conference proposal under consideration and is believed to be consulting Moscow on the question. However, it was regarded as virtually certain that he will reject Byrnes' plan.

Byrnes and Bevin conferred for three quarters of an hour at Byrnes Hotel Meurice suite.

Previously they had consulted with members of their delegations. Although the conference appeared to be on the verge of a breakdown, definite plans for its conclusion were still in abeyance. It was learned that Byrnes expects to remain in Paris at least until Monday. However, Sens. Tom Connally, D. Tex., and Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., may leave earlier.

There was a definite "moving day" atmosphere among participants in the conference.

A spokesman for the British delegation denied a report that Bevin planned to leave Saturday. He said the British had made no plans for departure, and added:

"The plans are so uncertain that we don't even know whether to send out our washing."

Sub-committees were meeting, apparently in an eleventh hour (Continued on Page Two)

DOCTORS FINISH MEETING; HEAR HEALTH WARNING

COLUMBUS, O., May 9—The three-day convention of the Ohio State Medical Association ended today after Bleeker Marquette, executive secretary of the Public Health Federation and Better Housing League of Cincinnati, warned of the effects of poor housing on health.

Marquette said that the effect of overcrowding and slum environment on mental health is believed to be even more far reaching than the effect on physical health.

Earlier Dr. Roger E. Heering, director of the state health department, said that the prevention of venereal disease cannot be a medical nor a public health responsibility alone.

Brig. Gen. William G. Menninger, director of the U. S. Army neuropsychiatry consultants division, last night said that communities, families and physicians have very definite responsibilities toward the handicapped veteran.

Seventeen persons named in 18 of the 24 indictments returned by the Pickaway county grand jury are scheduled for arraignment at 9 a. m. Monday before Judge Emmitt L. Crist in Common Pleas court.

The grand jury's report, returned late Wednesday afternoon after a two-day session, contained 24 indictments, six of them being secret. County Prosecutor Kenneth M. Robbins, who directed the jury's proceedings, said that 58 witnesses were examined. The 15 jurors ignored charges against five persons.

Lewis Harrington, 40, of 209 East Mill street, was indicted on two counts, one for assault with intent to kill Carl Steadman, 55, of near Circleville, and the other for assault on Harry Phillips, 52, of Huston street. The charges resulted from a fracas in the barroom in the Eagles' lodge quarters, East Main street, early April 14.

Others indicted: Henry Wilkes, 23, of 147 Logan street, two charges of forgery involving a $15 check drawn Jan. 28, 19 and a $10 check drawn Jan. 28, passed at the William F. Davis filling station at Water and Court streets.

Doris Carter, 19, formerly of Circleville who more recently lived at Columbus, two charges of forgery involving two checks for $22.50 each dated Nov. 20 and passed at the grocery of Lewis McClarren.

Kay Chaffin, 60, Walnut Creek pike, arson in connection with a fire Easter Sunday in his home, the property of Homer B. Quillen. Chaffin has claimed that kerosene with which he was kindling a stove fire exploded and Sheriff Charles Radcliff declared the Chaffin house had been saturated with fuel oil.

Two men were indicted for the burglary of the Don White grocery store the night of Jan. 6. They are Harold Eugene Reed and Carl Mace, William Hill, 25, Haywood avenue, breaking and entering the home of Earl Ellingsworth, South Bloomfield, the night of March 18.

Ebon Junior Taylor, 24, Columbus, forgery in the passing of a $10 check at the Spur Oil Co. on April 10.

Raymond Congrove, 18, farmer, Route 1, Kingston, forgery in connection with an attempt to pass (Continued on Page Two)

Price Increases Range From 25c On Corn To 5c On Oats; Bonus To End

WASHINGTON, May 9—Smaller meat supplies were predicted today in the wake of government orders permitting sharp rises in grain prices.

Price ceilings on major grains were lifted to encourage farmers to sell their cereals and help relieve famine abroad. The expensive price tags on the grain will tend to curtail feeding of the grain to livestock, to divert it to humans.

Federal agencies conceded that a cut in livestock feeding would mean less pork, poultry, eggs and top grade beef for Americans. But they said the supply still should be well above pre-war levels.

The price increase on grain ranged from 25 cents a bushel on corn to 5 cents on oats. Wheat ceilings were hiked 15 cents a bushel, barley 9 cents, rye 10 cents and grain sorghums 18 cents per hundred pounds.

The increases, effective May 15, were designed to cover any rises in farm parity up to June 30, 1947. Officials said no other increases were expected before then.

It was approved by Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and Price Chief Paul Porter following several days of hush-hush conferences.

It was coupled with a flat statement that there would be no price rises on livestock or poultry (Continued on Page Two)

MISS BAUGHMAN WINS BABY OF MONTH AWARDS

Miss Betty Kay Baughman, who was ushered into the world at 3:48 p. m. Wednesday in Berger hospital, will be showered with gifts.

She is the first baby born in Circleville to Circleville parents in May. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baughman, 106 Seifert avenue, Betty Kay weighed seven pounds and 12 ounces at birth.

Her mother's name is Kathryn. Dr. L. C. Schiff, Ashville, was the attending physician. Betty Kay has a brother, Harold, Jr.

Gifts to be presented to Circleville's youngest citizen and her parents include: a baby blanket from the C. J. Schneider furniture store, $1 worth of infants' merchandise from the W. T. Grant Co., one quart of milk daily for two weeks from the Blue Ribbon Dairy, a floral tribute to the parents from Bremer's, one carton of six 60-watt electric lamps to the parents from the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., a $1 savings account from the Circleville Savings and Banking Co., soft water service for 60 days from the Soft Water Service, and a three-month subscription from The Circleville Herald.

LaGuardia Urges Food Be Shared

WASHINGTON, May 9—UNRRA Director Fiorello H. LaGuardia said today that if nations which have food shared it fairly with "have not" countries there would be enough for everybody to stay alive.

As it is, LaGuardia said, millions of Europeans and Asiatics will be living from hand to mouth, from ship to ship, after June 1 because the food exporting nations have fallen down on their promises to the destitute peoples of the world.

Food shipments reaching hunger areas in June, he said, will be at a "catastrophically low level."

LaGuardia told the 48-nation UNRRA council that the food shortage really would begin to pinch this month when the daily bread ration of millions of Europeans would have to be cut from 200 grams to 160 or less because the wheat simply wasn't available.

"Given this, the director is convinced it would be possible to prevent starvation in Europe during the crucial Spring and Summer months. The existing level of rations in many countries clearly indicates that distribution is not on an equitable basis."

Meantime, Congressional leaders forecast early action on UNRRA's request for $600,000,000 in additional funds. That amount remains unappropriated of $2,700,000 congress has authorized to be turned over to UNRRA.

LEWIS PLEDGED SUPPORT OF ALL AFL MEMBERS

PHILADELPHIA, May 9—John L. Lewis' striking mine workers today had the pledge of AFL President William Green to throw the support of 7,000,000 federation workers behind the soft coal strike.

Speaking before the 44th annual convention of the Pennsylvania federation of labor (AFL) yesterday, Green said the mine workers were in a "life and death struggle."

He told the delegates it was their duty to support the miners until they are victorious in their present negotiations.

CROWN PRINCE WILL SUCCEED ITALIAN KING

Monarch In Disfavor Since Surrendering Powers To Benito Mussolini

BULLETIN
ROME, May 9—Plans of King Victor Emmanuel III to abdicate the Italian throne hit a snag today when Palmiro Togliatti, Communist leader, violently opposed the action.

ROME, May 9—Pietro Nenni, Italian vice-premier, announced today that King Victor Emmanuel III will abdicate next Saturday after reigning nearly 46 years.

Nenni's announcement that the "little king" would step down from the throne followed a statement by Enzo Selvaggi, head of the Italian Monarchist party, that the abdication would occur sometime today.

Crown Prince Humbert will succeed his father, Selvaggi said. Victor Emmanuel fell into international disfavor because of his association with Benito Mussolini's regime, during which he surrendered virtually all powers to the dictator.

ARABS REVEAL SOVIET PROMISE

Russians Reported Ready To Help Get Palestine
Problem Before UN

CAIRO, May 9—High Arab officials said today that Russia had agreed that the Palestine case should be raised before the United Nations organization and had promised to support the Arabs in such a presentation.

Official Arabic claims of Soviet support were the first indication of Soviet reaction to appeals by the Arabs for Russian aid in opposing the Anglo-American commission's recommendations for Palestine.

The Soviet government was described as agreeing with suggestions that the issue should be placed before the UN security council, with Russian backing for the Arabs.

There was no immediate word whether the Soviets themselves proposed to raise the Palestine question before the security council in New York. But possible (Continued on Page Two)

ELECTION TIES TO BE DECIDED BY COIN TOSS

Three ties for county central committee in Pickaway county as a result of the primary election will be decided by the tossing of a coin it was announced Thursday by the Board of Elections.

Board members will assemble at 7:30 p. m. Monday for the coin-tossing ceremonies.

All of the ties involve "write-in" candidates in Tuesday's balloting. One is on the Republican ticket and two on the Democratic. One is a three-way tie.

In Ashville-East precinct, R. P. Hoover, T. S. Hoover and Reuben Webber each received one vote for Democratic committee-man.

In Harrison township Charles Pettibone and Glen Rader were accorded one vote each for Democratic committee-man.

In Scioto Township-South, S. R. Beers and Everett Phillips received one vote each for Republican committee-man.

Board of Elections officials announced that an error was made in announcing the total vote cast in Pickaway county in Tuesday's election. The correct figure is 2,687, consisting of 1,568 Democratic and 1,119 Republican. A mistake of 1,010 in the total Democratic figure was made.

'God Is With That Boy,' Willie Francis' Family Says As Reprieve Comes

ST. MARTINVILLE, La., May 9—A tombstone already purchased for Willie Francis, 17-year-old convicted Louisiana slayer, must wait at least another month for its victim.

Acting Governor Emile Verret announced last night that lawyers for the teen-aged killer who lived through a "first" execution last Friday night when the electric chair failed, would be given 29 days to renew their arguments.

Verret said the stay was granted at the request of Louisiana Supreme Court Justice Charles A. O'Neill. It came after a long telephone conversation with Bertrand Deblanc, attorney for the youth who entered the case only Tuesday.

Members of the youth's family received the news of the reprieve with tears and prayer.

Mrs. Frederick Francis, worn, 57-year-old mother of the youth twice snatched from death by seeming miracles, accepted the notification with a fervent, "merci dieu!" (Thank God!)

Speaking only in her Cajun-French, she uttered a "le bon dieu" (the good Lord), as she clasped her wrinkled hands and crumpled to the floor of the weather-beaten little house on the outskirts of St. Martinville.

Other members of the family also (Continued on Page Two)

Lewis Seen As Victor In Struggle

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, May 9—John L. Lewis on the record of past performance will lick the coal operators and the government in his latest battle of the coal mines.

He will lick the public, too. The odds will continue to favor Lewis unless the government represented by President Truman and congress get together on some means of bringing Lewis and the operators to agreement.

If Mr. Truman hesitates to act further or to invite congressional action, he has cause to be fearful. Lewis repeatedly licked the late President Roosevelt when they met on the field of labor relations. He so infuriated congress in 1943 that the legislators enacted a war labor disputes act which shortly proved itself to have been hasty and ill-advised. It did not prevent strikes although it did help maintain war time production.

Lewis' performance record is as impressive as his eyebrows which rate almost as landmarks on the eastern seaboard. It is only when he plays presidential politics that Lewis usually has shown himself to be a hapless sucker.

Lewis was a Harding-Coolidge-Hoover Republican in the presidential campaigns of 1920-24-28, which was strange company for the toughest labor leader of them all. His United Mine Workers did not flourish in those administrations and he was out of politics in (Continued on Page Two)

EXPRESS OFFICE HIT BY STRIKE

Local Agency To Further Cut Shipments; Two Men Made Idle

The nation-wide bituminous coal strike which is rapidly developing industrial chaos throughout the country has caused a big crisis in the business of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., in Circleville, it was disclosed by Emmitt A. Leist, local agent in charge of the business at 133 West Main street.

The volume of express business has fallen off sharply during the past 10 days, Leist said, and Thursday it was almost at a standstill. As a consequence of the disruption, he explained, one employee was laid off Thursday and a second will be laid off at midnight Thursday when an order limiting shipments to essential commodities goes into effect. This will leave Leist the one and only man in the Circleville branch of the Railway Express Agency, Inc. (Continued on Page Two)

SAFETY GROUP FAVORS STRICT TRAFFIC RULES

WASHINGTON, May 9—President Truman's highway safety conference appeared willing today to go the chief executive one better in his demand for regulations to keep incompetents from driving automobiles.

The conference seemed certain to recommend country-wide standardization, so far as possible, in traffic control and licensing of drivers and vehicles.

The conference showed no apparent resentment at Mr. Truman's criticism of the practice of some states—including his home state of Missouri—of issuing driver's permits without proper examinations. Instead, the delegates seemed united in an all-out effort to drive death-on-wheels from the nation's thoroughfares.

Conference committees already have approved some relatively drastic proposals for more uniform accident prevention and control. The conference is expected to adopt these suggestions tomorrow before it adjourns.

COAL SHORTAGE BRINGS ORDER FROM OFFICIALS

418,000 striking miners. The total idle from labor disputes was well over the million mark.

Meanwhile, additional hundreds were being laid off hourly as the railroads hastened to comply with an office of defense transportation order, effective at midnight tonight, instituting an embargo on all non-essential freight and calling for a 25 per cent reduction in coal-burning train service.

General Motors Corporation and Chrysler corporation followed the shutdown of Ford Motor company plants today by announcing they would close within 10 days because of the nation-wide coal strike, the rail freight embargo and parts shortages.

The shutdowns will throw some 335,000 production workers out of employment by the end of next week. Ford laid off 110,000 workers last night for an indefinite period.

General Motors announced that it would close its 92 plants throughout the nation by next Friday because of the rail embargo which becomes effective at midnight. The action will idle 215,000.

Shortly afterwards, Chrysler followed with an announcement that it would lay off 10,000 production workers next week, stopping all new passenger car assembly lines. It blamed a shortage of parts, aggravated by the coal strike, and the embargo for its action.

In twin moves to stretch vanishing coal supplies, the civilian production administration last night drafted a directive authorizing the rationing of manufactured gas, and asked utility companies in 22 states to restore wartime dim-out regulations.

The OMT followed through with an appeal to motor truck operators to give priority to the movement of food and fuel in order to prevent the diversion of non-essential commodities from the railroads.

CPA Chief John D. Small warned that soft coal stocks on hand for emergency distribution were "less than the country would normally consume in one 12-hour period."

The Association of American Railroads estimated that 2,000 passenger trains, representing nearly 200,000 miles of daily service, would be discontinued by tonight's midnight deadline. It predicted that freight loadings would be down 75 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Meanwhile, the situation was complicated further by a threatened nationwide railway strike set for May 18, which would cut out coal deliveries altogether. The scheduled walkout involves 300,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

As the coal crisis mounted, Detroit joined Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and hundreds of smaller communities in returning to the wartime brownout. The CPA order would extend the dim-out to Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri and 18 states east of the Mississippi.

CPA officials said soft coal stocks everywhere were "reaching the danger point" and cautioned that deliveries would not return to normal for about 14 days after the strike ended.

ASK AIR MAIL CUT

WASHINGTON, May 9—The house postoffice committee has recommended a five-cent air mail postage rate. The committee, reporting its approval of the reduction from the present eight-cent rate, said the lower fee would produce enough extra business to recover any losses resulting from the drop.

"The Lord must be with that boy all right," a sister declared. With tear-filled eyes, the 67-year-old father prayed that the tombstone which he had borrowed money to purchase shortly before his son's original electrocution, would remain forever unused.

In his New Iberia death cell eight miles from the home, Willie thumbed constantly through his well-worn prayerbook and smiled happily at his temporary deliverance 12 hours before he was to have gone to the chair, between noon and 3 p. m. today.

He said he hadn't thought much of death as his time approached. "I was just sittin' here reading my prayerbook," he declared when told of the order.

Verret phoned the word to Sheriff Leonard Resweber after O'Neil said members of the court wanted more time to study the legal angles of the second execution.

IRISH DEMAND FREEING MEN ON HUNGER STRIKE

DUBLIN, May 9—Police fired over the heads of 400 demonstrators who surrounded President Sean T. O'Kelly's automobile today shouting demands for the release of two Irish hunger strikers.

The demonstrators were dispersed by the warning gunfire and by baton charges of police flying squadrons.

The outburst was the first violence in the rising tide of tension prompted by the hunger strikes of David Fleming and Sean McCaughy, former leaders of the outlawed Irish Republican army.

Fleming was reported hovering near death on the 50th day of his hunger strike, and convinced that he would die at any time. His brother, James, said Fleming was so weak he could barely whisper audibly.

McCaughy was in the 21st day of his fast at Maryborough prison in Eire. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera told the Dail yesterday that the government would not intervene in his case or ask the Belfast government to do anything about Fleming.

flurry of activity to clean up loose ends before the conference ends. The ministers' deputies prepared for council consideration later in the day a report on the status of the Franco-Italian frontier and Venezia Giulia.

Connally and Vandenberg said they would stay in Paris until the main part of the delegation leaves. Vandenberg added that "if the delegation decides to leave late Saturday night, I shall be happy to be the first on the plane."

Asked what would happen if Molotov turned down Byrnes' peace conference proposal, Vandenberg said the next move "would be up to our Soviet friends."

He said the Byrnes suggestion was aimed mainly to show that the United States was not shadow boxing and wanted to hold the peace conference as soon as possible.

In his opinion, he said, June 15 might be too early, and if the Russians requested a couple of months postponement the U. S. delegation probably would agree to once.

Vandenberg said the U. S. delegation firmly believes the peace conference should be a real conference and not a rubber stamp meeting such as he said the Soviets envisaged.

The order was expected to arouse a storm of protest from groups squeezed between higher feed costs and the static ceiling prices on their products.

Dairy prices may be permitted to go up later.

Agriculture department spokesmen said many times as many people can be fed with grain directly as could be fed with meat produced with the same amount of grain.

At the same time, it was announced that the government's 30-cents-a-bushel corn bonus program would end Saturday. The bonus on wheat will be continued through May 25 as originally announced. Farmers who sold wheat under the certificate plan can collect the new ceiling plus the bonus if they cash in their certificates between May 13 and May 25.

Agriculture department experts expected the Fall pig crop goals to be cut about 10 per cent.

MOSCOW CLAIMS U. S., BRITISH BLOCK PROGRESS

LONDON, May 9—The Moscow radio today accused Britain and the United States of blocking progress in the big four foreign ministers conference by trying to impose their will on the other delegates.

The Moscow broadcast, quoting a Tass Paris dispatch, said the western powers failed to show the proper goodwill toward their wartime ally. It said positive results had been achieved on a limited number of questions. But divergent views had developed on other important issues.

Soviet initiative was indicated in the report given to the United Press by high Arab authorities.

Arabic leaders have expressed determination to resist any implementation of the Anglo-American proposal that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine. The Arabs called for a worldwide "holy war" against the Americans and British if the recommendations are carried out, and sent an appeal for support to Premier Stalin.

Mounting Arabic protests against the proposal included a reported threat by King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia to cancel American oil concessions in his country unless President Truman acceded to the Arab position with regard to Palestine.

U. S., BRITISH COOL TO AUSSIE SHOWDOWN PLAN

NEW YORK, May 9—Both American and British delegations to the United Nations security council were cool today to Australia's surprise demand for an immediate showdown on Soviet Russia's policy of boycotting the council.

American officials did not want to link such questions of basic principle to a specific case—such as the Iranian case or to Russia's second boycott of the council on the Iranian case.

British officials thought there should be no rush to try to resolve a dilemma which they said might dissolve itself in time. They thought the council difficulties over the veto and the Russian policy of absenting itself from meetings already were heading for a showdown—and possible attempts at amendment of the charter—at the September assembly meeting of all 51 nations.

But there was general agreement that Australia at last had asked the $64 question—can the council continue to function in more than a superficial manner if one of its permanent members walks out when it is displeased by majority action of other members?

Young Australian delegate Paul Hasluck asked the question and then answered it with a vigorous "no" late yesterday.

Will Push Demands CLEVELAND, May 9—President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said today in regard to President Truman's "contemplated" seizure of the railroads that "we want it clearly understood we will insist on our proposals for working rule changes regardless of who operates the roads."

1932, having repudiated former President Hoover's re-election candidacy. He had no money and not much influence to offer that year even had he been politically minded.

But the Roosevelt administration underwrote the unionization of industry. Lewis entered the campaign of 1936 a mighty man whose pockets bulged with funds and whose heart swelled with enthusiasm for the new deal. His own personal union was thriving and the CIO had been born.

So Lewis loaned or donated approximately $470,000 of union funds to the 1936 new deal campaign, aiding considerably in the defeat of Republican Alf M. Landon. Lewis figured he had bought a share or two in the Roosevelt administration. When he tried to collect his dividends the falling out between himself and Mr. Roosevelt was something to behold. By 1939 Lewis was openly challenging Mr. Roosevelt's "thoughtlessness and sadly executed experimentation."

The pay-off came in October, 1940. Lewis announced over a $65,000 radio hookup that he would support the Republican presidential candidacy of the late Wendell L. Willkie—and he was off on the wrong horse again. He described Mr. Roosevelt as "an amateur, ill-equipped practitioner in the realm of political science."

CIO members ignored Lewis' counsel to support Willkie and the labor leader made good on his promise to resign the presidency of the CIO if Willkie lost. Similarly the miners were reluctant to follow his lead against Mr. Roosevelt in 1944.

Then in September, 1941, came the first of the series of strikes born of Lewis' powers as conferred on him by new deal legislation. It merely was for a closed shop in the captive mines owned and operated by steel companies. That strike was on and off as Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt sparred and slugged. But it was Lewis who kept his feet. Mr. Roosevelt was compelled to name an arbitration board so obviously loaded in favor of Lewis that there could be little doubt of its judgment.

The award came on Dec. 7, 1941, and it gave Lewis his closed shop. Again in the Spring of 1943 Lewis struck. He wanted a $2-a-day hike for his miners. It was at this point that an enraged congress passed the war labor disputes (Smith-Connally) act. But Lewis got substantially what he wanted and handily survived public protests against a coal strike in war time.

Last year Lewis was less fortunate. He struck the bituminous mines in an effort to obtain unionization of foremen and other supervisory personnel. After a fortnight Lewis called it off "in the public interest." There was no other explanation. Best bet was that the miners had refused to go along with that one and that Lewis knew it.

conferred with Humbert at the royal palace. Humbert informed de Gasperi of the "king's irrevocable intention to abdicate."

Humbert then went to Naples to arrange for the final details of the abdication.

The actual abdication signature was expected to be affixed tonight by the king, Humbert and de Gasperi. The council of ministers will meet tomorrow at 10 a. m. to approve the change and the formal abdication will be announced Saturday.

The exact procedure to be followed in effectuating the abdication was not certain since Humbert as lieutenant general of the realm already is exercising all royal powers.

It was thought that Humbert would issue the abdication document in Rome as coming from his father in Naples. The cabinet then would resign as a formality, immediately resuming office after swearing allegiance to Humbert.

The royal house and government sources confirmed that the abdication was imminent, but would not confirm that it would occur today. Whether the crown prince will be known as King Humbert II, or merely as prince regent until a national referendum on the monarchy June 2 was unknown.

Premier de Gasperi conferred last night with Falcone Lucifero, minister of the royal house, after the premier returned from the foreign ministers conference in Paris. It was reported reliably. Their talk was in preparation for the formal abdication.

Victor became king on July 29, 1900, when his father, King Humbert, was assassinated. Earlier this week, Selvaggi said if the referendum favors continuation of the monarchy, Humbert might assume the throne permanently, or might in turn abdicate in favor of his nine-year-old son, the prince of Naples.

COAL SHORTAGE BRINGS ORDER FROM OFFICIALS

Meanwhile, additional hundreds were being laid off hourly as the railroads hastened to comply with an office of defense transportation order, effective at midnight tonight, instituting an embargo on all non-essential freight and calling for a 25 per cent reduction in coal-burning train service.

General Motors Corporation and Chrysler corporation followed the shutdown of Ford Motor company plants today by announcing they would close within 10 days because of the nation-wide coal strike, the rail freight embargo and parts shortages.

The shutdowns will throw some 335,000 production workers of the "big three" auto makers out of employment by the end of next week. Ford laid off 110,000 workers last night for an indefinite period.

General Motors announced that it would close its 92 plants throughout the nation by next Friday because of the rail embargo which becomes effective at midnight. The action will idle 215,000.

Shortly afterwards, Chrysler followed with an announcement that it would lay off 10,000 production workers next week, stopping all new passenger car assembly lines. It blamed a shortage of parts, aggravated by the coal strike, and the embargo for its action.

In twin moves to stretch vanishing coal supplies, the civilian production administration last night drafted a directive authorizing the rationing of manufactured gas, and asked utility companies in 22 states to restore wartime dim-out regulations.

The ODT followed through with an appeal to motor truck operators to give priority to the movement of food and fuel in order to prevent the diversion of non-essential commodities from the railroads.

CPA Chief John D. Small warned that soft coal stocks on hand for emergency distribution were "less than the country would normally consume in one 12-hour period."

The Association of American Railroads estimated that 2,000 passenger trains, representing nearly 200,000 miles of daily service, would be discontinued by tonight's midnight deadline. It predicted that freight carloadings would be down 75 per cent over the corresponding period last year.

Meanwhile, the situation was complicated further by a threatened nationwide railway strike set for May 18, which would cut out coal deliveries altogether. The scheduled walkout involves 300,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

As the coal crisis mounted, Detroit joined Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and hundreds of smaller communities in returning to the wartime brownout. The CPA order would extend the dim-out to Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri and 18 states east of the Mississippi.

CPA officials said soft coal stocks everywhere were "reaching the danger point" and cautioned that deliveries would not return to normal for about 14 days after the strike ended.

ASK AIR MAIL CUT

WASHINGTON, May 9—The house postoffice committee has recommended a five-cent air mail postage rate. The committee, reporting its approval of the reduction from the present eight-cent rate, said the lower fee would produce enough extra business to recover any losses resulting from the drop.

"The Lord must be with that boy all right," a sister declared.

With tear-filled eyes, the 67-year-old father prayed that the tombstone which he had borrowed money to purchase shortly before his son's original electrocution, would remain forever unused.

In his New Iberia death cell eight miles from the rude home, Willie thumbed constantly through his well-worn prayerbook and smiled happily at his temporary deliverance 12 hours before he was to have gone to the chair, between noon and 3 p. m. today.

He said he hadn't thought much of death as his time approached. "I was just sittin' here reading my prayerbook," he declared when told of the order.

Verret phoned the word to Sheriff Leonard Resweber after O'Neil said members of the court wanted more time to study the legal angles of the second execution.

IRISH DEMAND FREEING MEN ON HUNGER STRIKE

DUBLIN, May 9—Police fired over the heads of 400 demonstrators who surrounded President Sean T. O'Kelly's automobile today shouting demands for the release of two Irish hunger strikers.

The demonstrators were dispersed by the warning gunfire and by baton charges of police flying squadrons.

Fleming was reported hovering near death on the 50th day of his hunger strike, and convinced that he would die at any time. His brother, James, said Fleming was so weak he could barely whisper audibly.

McCaughy was in the 21st day of his fast at Maryborough prison in Eire. Prime Minister Eamon de Valera told the Dail yesterday that the government would not intervene in his case or ask the Belfast government to do anything about Fleming.

CONFEREES SET TO LEAVE PARIS

flurry of activity to clean up loose ends before the conference ends. The ministers' deputies prepared for council consideration later in the day a report on the status of the Franco-Italian frontier and Venezia Giulia.

Connally and Vandenberg said they would stay in Paris until the main part of the delegation leaves. Vandenberg added that "if the delegation decides to leave late Saturday night, I shall be happy to be the first on the plane."

Asked what would happen if Molotov turned down Byrnes' peace conference proposal, Vandenberg said the next move "would be up to our Soviet friends."

He said the Byrnes suggestion was aimed mainly to show that the United States was not shadow boxing and wanted to hold the peace conference as soon as possible.

In his opinion, he said, June 15 might be too early, and if the Russians requested a couple of months postponement the U. S. delegation probably would agree at once.

though feed represents a large part of their production costs.

Dairy prices may be permitted to go up later.

Agriculture department spokesmen said many times as many people can be fed with grain directly as could be fed with meat produced with the same amount of grain.

At the same time, it was announced that the government's 30-cents-a-bushel corn bonus program would end Saturday. The bonus on wheat will be continued through May 25 as originally announced. Farmers who sold wheat under the certificate plan can collect the new ceiling plus the bonus if they cash in their certificates between May 13 and May 25.

MOSCOW CLAIMS U. S., BRITISH BLOCK PROGRESS

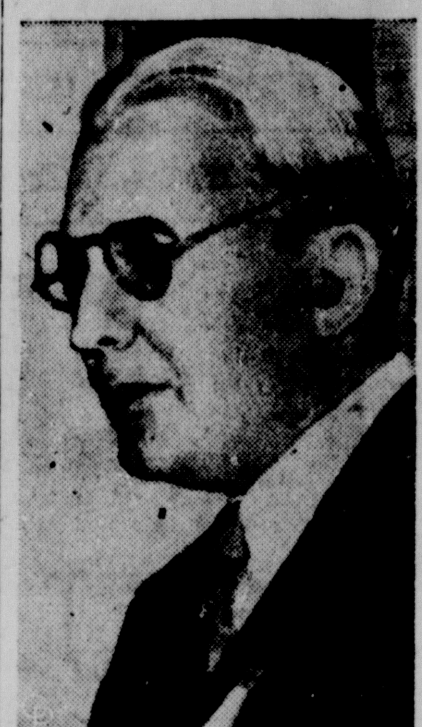

LONDON, May 9—The Moscow radio today accused Britain and the United States of blocking progress in the big four foreign ministers conference by trying to impose their will on the other delegates.

The Moscow broadcast, quoting a Tass Paris dispatch, said the western powers failed to show the proper goodwill toward their wartime ally. It said positive results had been achieved on a limited number of questions. But divergent views had developed on other important issues.

Soviet initiative was indicated in the report given to the United Press by high Arab authorities.

Arabic leaders have expressed determination to resist any implementation of the Anglo-American proposal that 100,000 Jews be admitted to Palestine. The Arabs called for a worldwide "holy war" against the Americans and British if the recommendations are carried out, and sent an appeal for support to Premier Stalin.

U. S., BRITISH COOL TO AUSSIE SHOWDOWN PLAN

NEW YORK, May 9—Both American and British delegations to the United Nations security council were cool today to Australia's surprise demand for an immediate showdown on Soviet Russia's policy of boycotting the council.

American officials did not want to link such questions of basic principle to a specific case—such as the Iranian case or to Russia's second boycott of the council on the Iranian case.

British officials thought there should be no rush to try to resolve a dilemma which they said might dissolve itself in time. They thought the council difficulties over the veto and the Russian policy of absenting itself from meetings already were heading for a showdown—and possible attempts at amendment of the charter—at the September assembly meeting of all 51 nations.

But there was general agreement that Australia at last had asked the $64 question—can the council continue to function in more than a superficial manner if one of its permanent members walks out when it is displaced by majority action of other members?

Young Australian delegate Paul Hasluck asked the question and then answered it with a vigorous "no" late yesterday.

WILL PUSH DEMANDS

CLEVELAND, May 9—President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said today in regard to President Truman's "contemplated" seizure of the railroads that "we want it clearly understood we will insist on our proposals for working rule changes regardless of who operates the roads."

1932, having repudiated former President Hoover's re-election candidacy. He had no money and not much influence to offer that year even had he been politically minded.

But the Roosevelt administration underwrote the unionization of industry. Lewis entered the campaign of 1936 a mighty man whose pockets bulged with funds and whose heart swelled with enthusiasm for the new deal. His own personal union was thriving and the CIO had been born.

So Lewis loaned or donated approximately $470,000 of union funds to the 1936 new deal campaign, aiding considerably in the defeat of Republican Alf M. Landon. Lewis figured he had bought a share or two in the Roosevelt administration. When he tried to collect his dividends the falling out between himself and Mr. Roosevelt was something to behold.

By 1939 Lewis was openly challenging Mr. Roosevelt's "thoughtlessness and sadly executed experimentation."

The pay-off came in October, 1940. Lewis announced over a $65,000 radio hookup that he would support the Republican presidential candidacy of the late Wendell L. Willkie—and he was off on the wrong horse again. He described Mr. Roosevelt as "an amateur, ill-equipped practitioner in the realm of political science."

CIO members ignored Lewis' counsel to support Willkie and the labor leader made good on his promise to resign the presidency of the CIO if Willkie lost. Similarly the miners were reluctant to follow his lead against Mr. Roosevelt in 1944.

Then in September, 1941, came the first of the series of strikes born of Lewis powers as conferred on him by new deal legislation. It merely was for a closed shop in the captive mines owned and operated by steel companies. That strike was on and off as Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt sparred and slugged. But it was Lewis who kept his feet. Mr. Roosevelt was compelled to name an arbitration board so obviously loaded in favor of Lewis that there could be little doubt of its judgment.

The award came on Dec. 7, 1941, and it gave Lewis his closed shop. Again in the Spring of 1943 Lewis struck. He wanted a $2-a-day hike for his miners. It was at this point that an enraged congress passed the war labor disputes (Smith-Connally) act. But Lewis got substantially what he wanted and handily survived public protests against a coal strike in war time.

Last year Lewis was less fortunate. He struck the bituminous mines in an effort to obtain unionization of foremen and other supervisory personnel. After a fortnight Lewis called it off "in the public interest." There was no other explanation. Best bet was that the miners had refused to go along with that one and that Lewis knew it.

50 DEBS READY TO CURTSY TO KING AND QUEEN

Much Interest Being Shown in Resuming Of Formal English Courts

BY BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 9.—At least 50 American debutantes and diplomatic corps wives and daughters are prepared to curtsy to the king and queen of England when formal courts are resumed, but they've learned the routine strictly on speculation.

No date has been set for the regal events in the court of St. James, and when it is, the lord chamberlain will weed the list of aspirants with the customary fine-toothed comb.

But, according to Miss Eveline McCullagh, London dancing instructor who has taught those 50 (there's no telling how many others are hopefully bowing before their own mirrors), the next court will be something special. First since the war, it will mark Princess Elizabeth's first presence at the court over which she presumably will reign one day.

Miss McCullagh's most recent pupils in court courtesy were two debutante daughters of a millionaire manufacturer, residing in suburban Westchester County, N. Y. They've already met the first requirement—a lady already presented who will send their names in to the lord chamberlain. They may lose out there; less than a third of the thousands of applicants may be accepted; although 1,200 to 1,400 will be presented, if pre-war practice is reinstated in four evening courts. If they don't make it, they may get a consolation prize invitation to a royal garden party.

If they are accepted for presentation, father millionaire must start spending money for the show, which, incidentally, he will never see. It could cost as little as $2,000—transportation to London not included—Miss McCullagh said. But to do it in real style, the presentation dress, complete with train, veil and three white feather headdresses, will probably cost that much alone at a London couture salon which makes knowing what's acceptable its business.

Other expenses include photographs, lessons in court courtesy (Miss McCullagh charges about $100 for seven lessons), flowers, a fan or more feathers to carry, and a limousine in which the girls will spend more time than they do in court on the big evening. They get traffic jammed in the Mall about 4 p. m., Miss McCullagh says, and all London peeks in car windows until the ceremony begins at 9:30.

When the girl's turn comes—she'll be one of 300 to 400 present—

FIVE COUNTY MEN MEET SERVICE REQUIREMENTS

Five men who underwent physical examination April 26 at Fort Hayes, Columbus, were found qualified for general military service, it was announced Thursday by the Pickaway County Selective Service board.

sentees—an attendant straightens her train and in she goes. The curtsy is a fussy business; straight down, bow just the head, then up, take a prescribed number of steps and repeat (one curtsy for the king, one for the queen). Then stand up, pick up the train, and back out. It has to be learned, says the expert, for there's bound to be stage fright.

If the presentee is lucky, she may get a seat in back of the throne to see the rest of the show, but otherwise her glimpse of royalty is restricted to the moment of her own presentation.

But the spectacle, Miss McCullagh feels, is worth anything. "It's a blaze of color and diamonds—all the diamonds are out." Spectators include only the royal family and the diplomatic corps, resplendent in ribbons, decorations, and every jewel the family owns.

And afterwards, of course, you can show off those three white feathers in whichever fashionable supper spot you choose.

If they are accepted for presentation, father millionaire must start spending money for the show, which, incidentally, he will never see. It could cost as little as $2,000—transportation to London not included—Miss McCullagh said. But to do it in real style, the presentation dress, complete with train, veil and three white feather headdresses, will probably cost that much alone at a London couture salon which makes knowing what's acceptable its business.

Other expenses include photographs, lessons in court courtesy (Miss McCullagh charges about $100 for seven lessons), flowers, a fan or more feathers to carry, and a limousine in which the girls will spend more time than they do in court on the big evening. They get traffic jammed in the Mall about 4 p. m., Miss McCullagh says, and all London peeks in car windows until the ceremony begins at 9:30. When the girl's turn comes—she'll be one of 300 to 400 pre-

FIVE COUNTY MEN MEET SERVICE REQUIREMENTS

Five men who underwent physical examination April 26 at Fort Hayes, Columbus, were found qualified for general military service, it was announced Thursday by the Pickaway County Selective Service board.

sentees—an attendant straightens her train and in she goes. The curtsy is a fussy business; straight down, bow just the head, then up, take a prescribed number of steps and repeat (one curtsy for the king, one for the queen). Then stand up, pick up the train, and back out. It has to be learned, says the expert, for there's bound to be stage fright.

If the presentee is lucky, she may get a seat in back of the throne to see the rest of the show, but otherwise her glimpse of royalty is restricted to the moment of her own presentation.

But the spectacle, Miss McCullagh feels, is worth anything. "It's a blaze of color and diamonds—all the diamonds are out." Spectators include only the royal family and the diplomatic corps, resplendent in ribbons, decorations, and every jewel the family owns.

FARMERS URGED TO GET BONUS ON CORN SALE

Emergency Offer Made By Government Expires When Quota Met

Pickaway county farmers are urged by County AAA Chairman John Boggs to take advantage of the emergency government offer of a bonus of 30 cents a bushel above the ceiling price for corn sold to the government to be used in the famine emergency.

Mr. Boggs warned that the bonus offer will expire just as soon as the government acquires 50,000,000 bushels under this program. Officials are unable to estimate if the time required will be only a few days or a few weeks. The corn is needed desperately to fill the gap in the nation's efforts to export wheat to starving people overseas during the next 60 days. Corn can be used as food in the form of meal and grits. Some of this emergency corn also may be used for essential industries but none will go into livestock feed, according to the Department of Agriculture.

Features of the program, being handled by AAA committeemen, are:

1. Eligible for the bonus is any corn grading No. 3 or better; or corn grading No. 4 on test weight only. The bonus will be paid only to the original producer of the corn.
2. Local elevators will receive the corn and issue government certificates which can be cashed immediately at the county AAA office. The producer will receive both the ceiling price and the bonus at once.
3. The offer expires as soon as the government obtains 50,000,000 bushels.

NOW, Flakorn — and Flako — are made with new 80 per cent extraction flour. You'll get the same delicious results. New flour makes the dry mix slightly different in color, but not your muffins and pies.

Both products give you that home-made flavor.

A spider web of wire, reports Ships magazine, helped save the lives of thousands of men adrift at sea in lifeboats during the war. The web was a radar device which weighed slightly more than a pound and which reflected the radar signals sent out by planes or ships. The reflections showed up as pinpoints of light on the search craft's radar scope, indicating the raft's position.

RECEIPTS DROP AT STOCK SALE

843 Head Sell At Weekly Auction Here; Prices Continue Firm

Sales of cattle and hogs declined sharply, with prices holding firm at ceiling figures, at the weekly auction, Wednesday, in the yards of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association in Circleville.

Ashville—Among recent real estate transfers were the sale of the Richard Hedges home to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heise, and the sale of the two Morrison homes on E. Main St. to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hedges and Mr. and Mrs. Harold O'daffer.

Ashville—Ashville has been having a "crime wave" with the following thefts being reported over the week-end: Harold Cameron's car which was recovered in Circleville; the theft of a truck owned by Richard Wilcox; the theft of several lawn chairs owned by Dr. C. W. Cromley, and the breaking and entering the home of Karl Reid where clothing was taken. It is reported that signs removed from the Wilcox truck were found a few miles west of Ashville.

The Ashville K. P. lodge met in regular session Wednesday evening. Members are asked to meet at Community Park Monday at 8:00 for soft ball practice. The page and esquire ranks will be conferred on a class of five candidates on Wednesday, May 22, beginning at 7 p. m.

WHAT IS WAR?

A group discussing John L. Lewis got around to treason. Someone dug up
the Constitution to see if he came under
that heading.

"1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

"2. The Congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no
tainer of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted."

In modern terms, making open war or giving aid and comfort to those who are making such war is the only basis of indictment for treason, and when Congress
has set the punishment, it shall not affect the heirs of the criminal. It is evident that the writers of our basic law had in mind chiefly the protection of the citizens from unfair accusation of treason.

"But what is war?" asked one. "If keeping coal from people who need it for warmth, and shutting down the industries
by which food and other necessities are distributed isn't war, what is it? If cold
and hunger and unemployment aren't enemies of the people and if John L. isn't
giving the aid and comfort—"

"It may not be war, but it's wickedness!" said Grandma, speaking up from her corner by the wood fire. "And if we're

FRANCE TURNS RIGHT

PESSIMISTS who believed communism
would sweep Europe after the war appear to have bet wrong. Wherever
there have been free elections the vote
has been slightly rightish, not in favor of
a reactionary conservatism, but rather
showing a determination to have stability
in government, under which recovery and
sensible new plans may proceed.

France shows herself in that light in her
recent popular election. The Constitution
had been barely passed by the assembly,
and while not exactly leftist in itself, it looked weak to the French, who feared it might let in totalitarian government later.
So they voted against it, and must now vote again early next month for a new assembly which will draft a new constitution.

The French have had enough of unstable governments and many parties and
too many factions to keep track of. They want something this time that they can understand and stick to, and which they feel reasonably sure will work.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 9—The Russian
program for world political action is losing, and a change of front may eventuate from the Browder talks in the Kremlin.

Severest setback to Communist plans
for postwar political aggression was defeat of their new constitution for France.
Moscovites controlled the spirit of the French government since they defeated DeGaulle's policy of a strong army, and
acquired collaboration of the Socialists.
Their constitution proposed a single center
of government authority in the chamber
of deputies with a subservient president
and cabinet.

Facially this appears like utmost democracy—somewhat like the superiority of the British parliament you might say. The majority of the French electorate was not fooled. Democracy rules by checks and balances. It gives no unbounded control to
a single authority anywhere. What the Communist constitution intended was to centralize the power of government so the Communists could use it, without the usual democratic restrictions. By redistricting it could give its industrial centers the greatest representation, and otherwise (do not forget that French politics is notoriously amenable to cash payments, both foreign
and domestic) solidify its power beyond redemption.

Every time the Communists go to the electorate, it seems, they are being rejected. In the French referendum on the subject last October, their proposal for a weak executive was defeated, although
they succeeded in electing the largest bloc
of delegates to the convention. In the con-vivialities of international conferences and domestic political dickering, the Moscov-ites have won the most ground, but at the ballot box they have proved weak.

election disclose their forced threat with even greater clarity. A spare three paragraphs in the London Times recently revealed the decision of the British labor party to change its constitution so as to deny membership to Communists. This decision follows the disclosure made in this column three weeks back, and not yet generally published, that the leftwing unions
in CIO were taking similar action, in similar quietude. The constitution of several CIO unions is being changed to ban Communist party members, and unquestionably labor in the two democracies is attempting to purge itself of the Communist influence.
How far it will succeed is not yet evident,
but the intent is genuinely significant because CP had made its deepest inroads in the labor movement (French union centers went for the Communist constitution.)

It was in the light of these world-changing events that Earl Browder flew to Russia on his unexplained mission. The CP postwar political action in this country has been in the hands of the fosterites who oppose cooperation with capitalism. Browder was ousted from party control here because he brought CP into cooperation for production during the war. Will the Mos-covites now order a period of cooperation
again with capitalism here and in the rest of the world?

HOLD YOUR CRITICISM

BEFORE berating your partner
for taking out your business double, into a contract in which you
get doubled and set a couple of
tricks, pause to figure out a couple of factors. First, could the opponents have made the contract you doubled? Second, was your partner's hand such that, even though the opponents could not
make their contract, it looked certain from his position that they could. The player across the table from you shares all of your gains
and losses, and is expected to re-
sue from doubles which he thinks won't pan out, just as you are expected to save him.

South glared at North when he
took out the business double of 6-Diamonds, and was still more upset after West scored the spade
A, East ruffed the spade 4, and
the club A was raked in to complete a two-trick set.

"I could have murdered them,"
exclaimed South, "if you had left

my double of 6-Diamonds in."
"Oh yeh?" inquired North.
"Just what tricks could you take,
outside of the ace of trumps?"

Examination showed that,
against any lead, the contract would have been made. The club K was the probable opening, which
the A would capture. Correct play then would involve a lead to the spade A, a ruff of the spade 4, a heart ruff for entry to the dummy and then a lead of the spade J, on which the club J would be parked. Whether South took his diamond A now, or not, it was the only trick-taker in his hand.

North said he could almost surely foresee the post-mortem from his own hand. He had so many of his partner's hearts that
one opponent must be short, and
he had so many of West's spades
that East could not have more than one or two, if any. His take-out of the business double really
saved his side plenty of points.

Dull Ache Sign of Internal Ill

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IF AN automobile tire becomes
weakened in one part, a small
bulge will form. The same thing seems to happen in the large bowel
or colon. The bulging parts are called diverticuli. As a general rule, the mere presence of these diverticuli, a condition known as diverticulosis, causes no difficulty.
However, if inflammation of the
diverticuli, known as diverticulitis
occurs, symptoms develop.

In the earliest stages the symptoms may be very slight, but as time passes, they often become more severe. Long neglect can result in a very serious and health-
threatening condition.

Early Diagnosis

Once again it is a case of early diagnosis and treatment paying
off in substantial health dividends
because if the disorder is discovered while it is still mild, its more severe and painful symptoms may be averted altogether.

During an attack of diverticu-litis, the patient has a dull aching sensation, or a heavy feeling in
the abdomen, or even sharp pain.
The pain is most often in the lower
times there is no pain at all while
the patient has attacks of diarrhea alternating with constipation. In still other instances, the patient suffers only from constipation. At times the trouble occurs only at intervals.

Unfortunately, many persons
with this condition in its early stages think that they are suffering only from some digestive upset
and neglect consulting the physician until the attacks recur on several occasions.

A diagnosis of diverticulosis is
not difficult to make if an X-ray
of the colon is taken. In addition to the X-ray an instrument known
as a sigmoidoscope may be employed. This consists of a tube
with a light which can be passed
into the rectum, enabling the physician to examine the walls of the rectum directly.

The exact cause of diverticu-litis is not known. However, it is possible that it develops as a result of repeated attacks of inflammation of the bowel or colitis.
Chronic constipation may also be a factor, according to Dr. Norman
P. Henderson of London. Tumor
growths may be responsible in some instances.

Bland Diet

When diverticulitis first starts
all of the symptoms may be completely relieved in many instances
by having the patient use a bland diet, that is, one which does not contain an excessive amount of roughage or does not contain highly-seasoned foods. Furthermore, steps must be taken to avoid constipation.

As the condition continues, scar
tissue may form in the diverticuli,
which will keep the bowel from returning to normal. In such instances, it is also possible that various complications may develop so
that operation may be needed in some cases.

Persons who suffer from attacks
of pain in the abdomen should not
delay in having a complete examination including X-rays of the bowel.

the coming year.

Two Circleville residents had
pictures hung in the exhibit ar-

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

WE READ Brenda's letter, one
after the other.

It was, of course, several months
old and couldn't give a clue to murders that hadn't been committed at
the time it was written, but it was so pathetic in its humble plea for forgiveness, and its childlike trust
in Leighton, I had to swallow and blink back tears before I could trust myself to speak after handling it on.

The inspector and Claire seemed to feel the same way. At least, they were silent for quite a while and
looked sober and touched.

At last the inspector cleared his throat thoroughly and asked Leighton: "Do you mind answering a few questions?"

Leighton shook his head, and the inspector went on: "What is the
'wrong' of which your wife spoke
so much?"

"It refers to a valuable necklace
she—lost, while I was on my way last trip before our divorce. A family heirloom," he said at last, in a voice that sounded a little hoarse.

"Insured?" the inspector inquired offhand—as though he didn't know all about it!

"Yes. For $75,000," Leighton
nodded.

"I see. And you refunded the insurance money." It wasn't a question. The inspector stated a fact.

"Why?"

"The muscles in Leighton's cheeks moved spasmodically.

"Because she didn't lose it. She gave it to the man of whom later
she was afraid—her murderer.

From what she said then I gathered he'd been in momentary difficulties and she'd wanted to help him out."

"And the money you returned
was the insurance money?"

"No. The sum paid by the company had gone—the way of the pearls," Leighton said bitterly.

"I couldn't believe it. 'Don't tell me Brenda gave him the pearls and
the insurance money!' I gasped.

"It would seem she did," Leighton told me briefly, and then turned back to the inspector. "I'm telling you this only in the hope it may give you a clue. A matched string of large pearls doesn't generally
disappear without leaving a trace."

"This one did," Inspector Barry confessed ruefully. "You see, you haven't exactly been telling me
news. After what Miss Applebee told me—of her strange meeting
and later friendship with your wife
—the department naturally made inquiries about her. And so we knew all about the vanished
pearls."

Leighton didn't seem to resent
the disclosure. "Then, what do you
Has it been broken up, or smuggled
out of the country to some shady
foreign market?" he asked.

The inspector shrugged noncom-mitally. "I don't know, and frankly, I don't care. It's more important for me to know if the missing necklace and insurance money was the reason for your divorce."

Leighton nodded. "It was. I drew

the conclusion from Brenda's action
that she was through with me. And
she quite honestly admitted she
was desperately in love with this skunk and wanted to marry
him the moment she was free."

"But she didn't tell you the name?"

"No," Leighton said curtly. Adding after a pause: "I realize it sounds strange. I should have insisted on learning the name of—my successor, even if he was a low-down thief. But—I had no idea then what a child Brenda was, and how easily influenced emotionally. I thought she'd been a better pupil
of her scheming grandmother than I'd given her credit for, and was so disgusted I—shipped her off to Reno and went into the Army."

Inspector Barry remained silent
for at least half a minute, in which he plainly did a lot of thinking.
Then he got to his feet with a deep sigh and said: "Well, I guess I expected a miracle of you, Mr. Leighton. And as miracles just don't happen these days I'll have to muddle
along without one."

Leighton got up, too, but reluctantly: "Do you mean—I was your only hope? You haven't any suspect at all?" he asked incred-
ulously.

"The inspector's face clouded.
"Suspects?" he said with an annoyed shrug. "Sure I have suspects.
Jane there knows one—and thinks
she has guessed the second. But what good does it do?" Then he held out his hand to me: "Well,
thanks for trying to refresh Mr.
Leighton's memory, Jane, and—
let's go."

But Leighton had no desire to leave.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to stay a while longer, Inspector," he said quietly. "Miss Applebee was
the last, and probably best, friend
Brenda had and—if she doesn't object to talking about her with me,
I'd greatly appreciate it."

"I didn't. And so Inspector Barry
tired into the guest room after seeing him to the door, and Brenda's husband and I sat down on the sofa
before the fireplace.

Once we were alone, though, he plainly didn't know how to begin his talk about Brenda, and I had to help him out by saying: "Shall I start with her last days—or at the beginning?"

He looked grateful and relieved.
"Anywhere you please," he told me,
a little hoarsely. "I just want to hear more about her. Her life, her friends if any—everything. And
there's one thing I'd like to find out particularly: What made you like
her, even after you'd learned she'd snaked her way into your sister's house?"

"Not even. Only after I'd learned it," I corrected. "To be honest, she irritated me that first night. I resented her—well—her lack of humor in handling what I considered a minor misadventure.

I began to like her after I'd found out Elmpoint had been her home—
and she'd wanted to see it so much
that any way of getting into it was

Hours, or so it seemed, after Leighton had left Claire came into the living room.

"What did he say? Did he spill anything he kept back in front of the inspector?" she asked.

"Not a thing," I told her. "And —the inspector was right. Brenda had shot her bolt. Her happy days were over."

STARSSAY—

For Thursday, May 9 ACTIVITY of surprising significance continues in which the mind is set on the accomplishment of some unusual, unique or unorthodox objective, in which it may be best to carry on in a secret or unspectacular manner, rather than to court the approbation of the public or those in superior positions.

With the mental forces and energies focused on the unusual or novel there is forecast of surprising development, with welcome change in environs and position, with prosperity, pleasure and happy romantic engagements.

Those whose birthday it is may have a progressive and productive year. Exceptional talents, faculties and forces may ultimately lead to a pleasant and appreciated position in public esteem. There is novelty, with unconventional and possibly romantic and dramatic adventures, in which the private as well as public affairs enjoy surprising advantages. Change and travel with new agreements or contracts are indicated.

A child born on this day may have a keen and shrewd mind, with a leaning toward the new, original, irregular or unconventional.
Its success in life may be due to its own originality and genius.

possibly become more confused than it already was.

WASHINGTON—Look for Marshal Tito's Yugoslavian government to relax its poised mailed fist in the "war crimes" trial of Gen. Draja Mihailovich, famed guerilla leader. Look for Mihailovich to escape with a sentence no sterner than life imprisonment, and probably considerably milder.

Observers believe that pressure being exerted unofficially by the United States already has aided Mihailovich, whose assistance to the Allied cause in the early days of the war was invaluable.

An American legal staff already is enroute to Belgrade to help him. And the "Mission for Mihailovich," composed of more than 600 Allied fliers whose lives he saved is exerting mighty influence in molding public sentiment.

Informed sources believe that Tito may be influenced by Marshal Josef Stalin, if no one else, to pull his punches in the trial, which obviously is an explosive Balkan football.

They point out that the Russian leader may wish to use Mihailovich as a pawn in the European game. If Tito, who usually takes orders from Moscow, can be influenced to go easy on the one-time guerilla leader, sentiment can be engendered for Russia as well as in Yugoslavia.

The voice of United States rings strong in the Balkans and re-echoes in Moscow.

Tito may consent to the Allied fliers' plea for trial by an Inter-Allied tribunal. If not, he probably will consent to let the rescued Americans testify for Mihailovich.

WHAT IS WAR?

A group discussing John L. Lewis got
around to treason. Someone dug up
that heading.

"1. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against
them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on
confession in open court.

declare the punishment of treason, but no
tainer of treason shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted."

In modern terms, making open war or
giving aid and comfort to those who are
making such war is the only basis of indictment for treason, and when Congress
has set the punishment, it shall not affect
the heirs of the criminal. It is evident that
the writers of our basic law had in mind
unfair accusation of treason.

"But what is war?" asked one. "If
keeping coal from people who need it for
warmth, and shutting down the industries
distributed isn't war, what is it? If cold
and hunger and unemployment aren't en-
giving the aid and comfort—"

"It may not be war, but it's wickedness!" said Grandma, speaking up from
her corner by the wood fire. "And if we're

FRANCE TURNS RIGHT

PESSIMISTS who believed communism
would sweep Europe after the war
appear to have bet wrong. Wherever
a reactionary conservatism, but rather
showing a determination to have stability
in government, under which recovery and

recent popular election. The Constitution
had been barely passed by the assembly,
and while not exactly leftist in itself, it looked weak to the French, who feared it might let in totalitarian government later.
So they voted against it, and must now
vote again early next month for a new assembly which will draft a new constitution.

The French have had enough of unstable governments and many parties and
too many factions to keep track of. They
want something this time that they can
understand and stick to, and which they

WASHINGTON, May 9—The Russian
program for world political action is
losing, and a change of front may eventuate from the Browder talks in the Kremlin.

Severest setback to Communist plans
for postwar political aggression was defeat of their new constitution for France.
French government since they defeated DeGaulle's policy of a strong army, and
acquired collaboration of the Socialists.
Their constitution proposed a single center
of government authority in the chamber
and cabinet.

Facially this appears like utmost democracy—somewhat like the superiority of
majority of the French electorate was not
a single authority anywhere. What the
centralize the power of government so the Communists could use it, without the usual democratic restrictions. By restricting it could give its industrial centers the greatest representation, and otherwise (do not forget that French politics is notoriously
amenable to cash payments, both foreign
and domestic) solidify its power beyond
redemption.

Every time the Communists go to the
electorate, it seems, they are being reject-
ed. In the French referendum on the subject last October, their proposal for a
weak executive was defeated, although
they succeeded in electing the largest bloc
of delegates to the convention. In the continuances of international conferences and domestic political dickering, the Mosco-vites have won the most ground, but at the ballot box they have proved weak.

election disclose their forced threat with
even greater clarity. A spare three paragraphs in the London Times recently revealed the decision of the British labor
party to change its constitution so as to deny membership to Communists. This decision follows the disclosure made in this column three weeks back, and not yet generally published, that the leftwing unions
in CIO were taking similar action, in similar quietude. The constitution of several CIO unions is being changed to ban Communist party members, and unquestionably
labor in the two democracies is attempting
to purge itself of the Communist influence.
How far it will succeed is not yet evident,
but the intent is genuinely significant because CP had made its deepest inroads in the labor movement (French union centers went for the Communist constitution.)

It was in the light of these world-changing events that Earl Browder flew to Russia on his unexplained mission. The CP postwar political action in this country has
been in the hands of the fosterites who oppose cooperation with capitalism. Browder
was ousted from party control here because he brought CP into cooperation for
production during the war. Will the Mos-
covites now order a period of cooperation
again with capitalism here and in the rest
of the world?

HOLD YOUR CRITICISM

BEFORE berating your partner
for taking out your business double, into a contract in which you
get doubled and set a couple of
tricks, pause to figure out a couple of factors. First, could the opponents have made the contract you doubled? Second, was your partner's hand such that, even though the opponents could not
make their contract, it looked certain from his position that they
could. The player across the table
from you shares all of your gains
and losses, and is expected to re-
sue from doubles which he thinks
won't pan out, just as you are expected to save him.

took out the business double of 6-Diamonds, and was still more
upset after West scored the spade
A. East ruffed the spade 4, and
the club A was raked in to complete a two-trick set.
"I could have murdered them,"
exclaimed South, "if you had left

my double of 6-Diamonds in."
"Oh yeh?" inquired North.
"Just what tricks could you take,
outside of the ace of trumps?"

Examination showed that, against any lead, the contract would have been made. The club K was the probable opening, which
the A would capture. Correct play
then would involve a lead to the
spade A, a ruff of the spade 4, a
heart ruff for entry to the dum-
my and then a lead of the spade J,
on which the club J would be parked. Whether South took his diamond A now, or not, it was the
only trick-taker in his hand.

North said he could almost surely foretell the post-mortem
from his own hand. He had so many of his partner's hearts that
one opponent must be short, and
he had so many of West's spades
that East could not have more than one or two, if any. His take-
out of the business double really
saved his side plenty of points.

Dull Ache Sign of Internal Ill

IF AN automobile tire becomes
weakened in one part, a small
bulge will form. The same thing
seems to happen in the large bowel
or colon. The bulging parts are called diverticuli. As a general rule, the mere presence of these
diverticuli, a condition known as
diverticulosis, causes no difficulty.
However, if inflammation of the
diverticuli, known as diverticulitis,
occurs, symptoms develop.

In the earliest stages the symptoms may be very slight, but as
time passes, they often become
more severe. Long neglect can result in a very serious and health-
threatening condition.

Early Diagnosis

Once again it is a case of early
diagnosis and treatment paying
off in substantial health dividends
because if the disorder is discovered while it is still mild, its more
severe and painful symptoms may
be averted altogether.

During an attack of diverticu-
litis, the patient has a dull aching
sensation, or a heavy feeling in
the abdomen, or even sharp pain.
times there is no pain at all while
the patient has attacks of diarrhea
alternating with constipation. In
still other instances, the patient
suffers only from constipation. At times the trouble occurs only at
intervals.

Unfortunately, many persons
with this condition in its early
stages think that they are suffering only from some digestive upset
and neglect consulting the physician until the attacks recur on

several occasions.

A diagnosis of diverticulosis is
not difficult to make if an X-ray
to the X-ray an instrument known
as a sigmoidoscope may be employed. This consists of a tube
with a light which can be passed
into the rectum, enabling the physician to examine the walls of the
rectum directly.

The exact cause of diverticu-
litis is not known. However, it is possible that it develops as a result of repeated attacks of inflammation of the bowel or colitis.
Chronic constipation may also be
P. Henderson of London. Tumor
growths may be responsible in
some instances.

Bland Diet

When diverticulitis first starts
all of the symptoms may be completely relieved in many instances
by having the patient use a bland
diet, that is, one which does not
contain an excessive amount of
roughage or does not contain
highly-seasoned foods. Furthermore, steps must be taken to avoid
constipation.

As the condition continues, scar
tissue may form in the diverticuli,
which will keep the bowel from returning to normal. In such instances, it is also possible that various complications may develop so
that operation may be needed in
some cases.

Persons who suffer from attacks
of pain in the abdomen should not
delay in having a complete examination including X-rays of the
bowel.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mrs. Barbara Jones entertained with a reception Friday at the Hurricane. Two hundred and fifty guests attended between the hours of 2:30 and 4:30 p. m.

One hundred couples attended the annual Stouge club dance held last night at the Memorial

Hall. At this time Frank Gehl was installed as president for the coming year.

Two Circleville residents had
pictures hung in the exhibit arranged by the Columbus office of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. They were Miss Doris Moffitt, whose picture was "Mischief," and Tom Brunner who showed "Design for Salad".

The 80 foot elevator of the Raston-Purina Co. in Ashville was burned to the ground Wednesday

WE READ Brenda's letter, one
after the other.

It was, of course, several months
old and couldn't give a clue to murders that hadn't been committed at
the time it was written, but it was so pathetic in its humble pleas for forgiveness, and its childlike trust
in Leighton, I had to swallow and
blink back tears before I could
trust myself to speak after handling it on.

The inspector and Claire seemed
to feel the same way. At least, they were silent for quite a while and
looked sober and touched.

At last the inspector cleared his throat thoroughly and asked Leighton:
"Do you mind answering a few questions?"

Leighton shook his head, and the
inspector went on: "What is the
'wrong' of which your wife spoke
so much?"

Leighton hesitated a moment.
"It refers to a valuable necklace
she—er—lost, while I was on my last trip before our divorce. A family heirloom," he said at last, in a voice that sounded a little hoarse.

"Insured?" the inspector inquired offhand—as though he didn't know all about it!

"Yes. For $75,000," Leighton
nodded.

"I see. And you refunded the insurance money?" It wasn't a question. The inspector stated a fact.
"Why?"

"The muscles in Leighton's cheeks
moved spasmodically.

"Because she didn't lose it. She gave it to the man of whom later
she was afraid—her murderer.

From what she said then I gathered he'd been in momentary difficulties and she'd wanted to help
him out."

"And the money you returned
was the insurance money?"

"No. The sum paid by the company had gone—the way of the
pearls," Leighton said bitterly.

"I couldn't believe it. 'Don't tell
me Brenda gave him the pearls and
the insurance money!' I gasped.

"It would seem she did," Leighton told me briefly, and then turned back to the inspector. "I'm telling
you this only in the hope it may
give you a clue. A matched string
of large pearls doesn't generally
disappear without leaving a trace."

"This one did," Inspector Barry
confessed ruefully. "You see, you
news. After what Miss Applebee
told me—of her strange meeting
and later friendship with your wife
—the department naturally made
inquiries about her. And so we knew all about the vanished
pearls."

Leighton didn't seem to resent
the disclosure. "Then, what do you
Has it been broken up, or smuggled
out of the country to some shady
foreign market?" he asked.

The inspector shrugged noncom-
mitally. "I don't know, and frankly, I don't care. It's more important for me to know if the missing necklace and insurance money was the
reason for your divorce.

Leighton nodded. "It was. I drew

the conclusion from Brenda's action
that she was through with me. And
she quite honestly admitted she
was desperately in love with this
skunk and wanted to marry
him the moment she was free."

"But she didn't tell you the
name?"

"No," Leighton said curtly. Adding after a pause: "I realize it
sounds strange I should have insisted on learning the name of my successor, even if he was a low-down thief. But—I had no idea then
what a child Brenda was, and how easily influenced emotionally. I thought she'd been a better pupil
of her scheming grandmother than I'd given her credit for, and was
as disgusted I—shipped her off to

Inspector Barry remained silent
for at least half a minute, in which
he plainly did a lot of thinking.
Then he got to his feet with a deep
sigh and said: "Well, I guess I expected a miracle of you, Mr. Leighton. And as miracles just don't happen these days I'll have to muddle
along without one."

Leighton got up, too, but re-
luctantly: "Do you mean—I was
your only hope? You haven't any suspect at all?" He asked incredulously.

"The inspector's face clouded.
"Suspects!" he said with an annoyed sigh. "Sure I have suspects.
Jane there knows one—and thinks
she has guessed the second. But
what good does it do?" Then he
held out his hand to me: "Well,
thanks for trying to refresh Mr.
Leighton's memory. Jane, and—
let's go."

But Leighton had no desire to
leave.

"If you don't mind, I'd like to stay a while longer, Inspector," he
said quietly. "Miss Applebee was
the last, and probably best, friend
Brenda had—and if she doesn't object to talking about her with me,
I'd greatly appreciate it."

turned into the guest room after seeing him to the door, and Brenda's
before the fireplace.

Once we were alone, though, he
plainly didn't know how to begin
his talk about Brenda, and I had to
start with her last days—or at the
beginning?"

He looked grateful and relieved.
"Anywhere you please," he told me,
a little hoarsely. "I just want to
hear more about her. Her life, her
friends if any—everything. And
there's one thing I'd like to find out
particularly: What made you like
her, even after you'd learned she'd sneaked her way into your sister's
house?"

"Not 'even.' Only after I'd learned it," I corrected. "To be honest, she irritated me that first
night. I resented her—well—her
lack of humor in handling what I considered a minor misadventure. I began to like her after I'd found out Elmpoint had been her home—
and she'd wanted to see it so much

Leighton nodded. "It was. I drew program planned for the north-end.

George D. McDowell was voted another two year contract and an

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

WHEN President Truman visited those naval air maneuvers he saw almost as many people in the air as he did in Washington when the House was discussing the OPA.

The good old U. S. influence is still strong in the Philippines. The defeated side in an election there claims it was cheated.

Those Nuernberg trials are lasting so long it now seems that,
along with the war debt, the next

Leighton looked puzzled. "But—that's the queer part of it. Brenda didn't like Elmpoint. I can't understand why she should have wanted so much to see it again."

"She may not have liked Elmpoint, but she liked her rooms. The furniture in them had been specially designed for her, hadn't it?" I reminded him. "I'm not just guessing. She told me she came back for a look at her things. But that she was glad they were gone, as it kept her from doing you another 'wrong.'
Any idea what she meant?"

He shook his head. "No. It makes it more of a puzzle. The whole thing seems too carefully planned and full of expert lying for Brenda. She couldn't lie. When she did, it was written all over her face."

"Then you think her visit to Elmpoint was planned for her—by her murderer?" I asked.

"By him or someone else. But why? What can be the connection between that crazy stunt and the first two murders?"

"I couldn't answer the question. It had stumped me for two intermin-able, horrible weeks. And so I said, 'I don't know,' and changed the subject by delving into an account of Brenda's last days: her joy when she'd heard he was on his way to her, her confidence that his arrival would solve the murders and end all her troubles besides."

"If only I could have made her tell me the name!" I mourned at the end of my story. "But she insisted it would mean another
'wrong' to you, and—I just couldn't budge her."

"I know," Leighton agreed un-happily. "The man must have threatened her with heaven knows what, until it became an obsession with her, this—doing me a 'wrong.'"

It certainly had been an obsession. A wrong she had done her husband. . . . A wrong she was glad she couldn't do him. . . . A wrong she wouldn't do him—

"And still, it would all have ended well if she'd lived—if that friend hadn't been so horribly clever," I thought out loud.

"You mean we'd have remarried," Leighton interpreted my remark correctly. "You're right, we would. But I'm not so sure it would have been a happy solution. A marriage cannot work out if it's one long separation. And that's what it had to be in our case. Brenda was a hothouse plant, and simply couldn't adapt herself to my kind of life. Nature in the raw frightened her. And I think I did, too, when I came back to the camp nights, tired and dirty and ravenous, digging holes into mountains. I honestly believe her loathing of all things primitive did more to make her ill than her lack of pigmentation."

Hours, or so it seemed, after Leighton had left Claire came into
the living room.

Faculties of Two County Schools Hold Parties

Recent Brides Are Honored By Teachers

The table was appropriately centered with a miniature wedding scene made of clothes pin dolls. The bride and groom were placed before the tiny altar with the maid of honor and the best man. Four bridesmaids followed and the ring bearer and flower girl were in attendance as the preacher performed the ceremony. In addition to the effective wedding scene the table was decorated with tiny green and white May baskets filled with pansies and lily of the valley, which marked each place. The final touch to the effective table decoration was given by the softly glowing candles.

Mrs. Caldwell was presented with a gift from the group by John Hardin, superintendent of the school. Those present at the dinner included Mrs. Florence Hunt, Mrs. Don Patterson, Miss Mildred Wertman, Miss Eddie Bingham, Miss Faye Karshner, Miss Louise Stucky, Miss Mildred Shaner, Miss Hazle Chilcote, Miss Willma George, John Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hall.

Members of the Ashville faculty entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner at the Pickaway Arms, in honor of Mrs. Lloyd Sonner, a recent bride, Columbus, and Miss Lois Engle, Pickaway street. Seated at the table decorated with Spring flowers were Mrs. Claude Kraft, Mrs. Felix Dore, Mrs. Paul Cromley, Mrs. Edwin Irwin, Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Harold Bowers, Mrs. Geraldine Conard, Miss Maxine Oyler, Mrs. H. D. Fudge, Mrs. Walter Harris,

Saltcreek Valley Grange In Session

Saltcreek Valley grange met Tuesday evening. It was decided at this time the prune bread and kitchen curtain contest will be held at the next meeting.

An answer was made to a grange appeal. Gail Heffner and Raymond Hedges were reported on the sick list.

Mrs. Raymond Hedges and Mrs. Ray Fraunfelder were appointed to help with the Memorial program to be held at the next meeting. Announcement was made of the Pomona grange to take place at Washington township, May 18.

An auction sale of flower bulbs and a box social were held. "Old Folks at Home" was sung by the group to open the program. Mrs. Randolph Wolfe, lecturer, was in charge of the program. She read two articles sent from Japan by her son, Edward.

Robert DeLong gave two readings for Mother's Day and Gift Macklin played a piano solo. "It's Good to Have a Mother" was given as a reading by Jimmy Bob Armstrong, and Sally Ann Armstrong offered "Flowers for Mothers". Wayne Luckhart sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." At the close of the program "Tributes to my Beloved Mother" was given by Richard Rhymer.

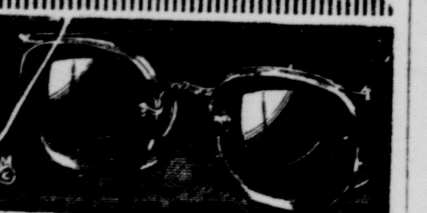

Thirty five members and guests were present.

Past Chiefs Club Has Dinner Meeting

Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, entertained the members of the Past Chiefs club at Mrs. Marion's Party home, Wednesday evening.

A short business session was held following the dinner and it was decided that Mrs. Frank Davis will be hostess for the June meeting of the club.

Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Hitler, West Mount street, are enroute home from Naples, Florida, where they have been vacationing.

Recent Brides Are Honored By Teachers

Mrs. Renick Caldwell, a recent bride, was honored Wednesday evening when the members of the faculty of Pickaway township school entertained with a dinner at the Pickaway Arms.

The table was appropriately centered with a miniature wedding scene made of clothes pin dolls. The bride and groom were placed before the tiny altar with the maid of honor and the best man. Four bridesmaids followed and the ring bearer and flower girl were in attendance as the preacher performed the ceremony. In addition to the effective wedding scene the table was decorated with tiny green and white May baskets filled with pansies and lily of the valley, which marked each place. The final touch to the effective table decoration was given by the softly glowing candles.

Mrs. Caldwell was presented with a gift from the group by John Hardin, superintendent of the school. Those present at the dinner included Mrs. Florence Hunt, Mrs. Don Patterson, Miss Mildred Wertman, Miss Eddie Bingham, Miss Faye Karshner, Miss Louise Stucky, Miss Mildred Shaner, Miss Hattie Chilcote, Miss Wilma George, John Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Egleson, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hall.

Members of the Ashville faculty entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner at the Pickaway Arms, in honor of Mrs. Lloyd Sonner, a recent bride, Columbus, and Miss Lois Engle, Pickaway street. Seated at the table decorated with Spring flowers were Mrs. Claude Kraft, Mrs. Felix Dore, Mrs. Paul Cronley, Mrs. Edwin Irwin, Mrs. Frank Hudson, Mrs. Harold Bowers, Mrs. Geraldine Conard, Miss Maxine Oyler, Mrs. H. D. Fudge, Mrs. Walter Harris,

Ebenezer Circle Meeting Is Held

Mrs. A. H. Morris, president, opened the meeting and Mrs. Guy Heffner was in charge of the devotionals. The general theme of the meeting was Mother's Day.

"Mother's Prayers" was offered as a vocal duet by Mrs. Herschel Hinton and Mrs. James Pierce. Mrs. O. C. King, Mrs. Lewis Sharp, and Mrs. George Jury had charge of the program.

Mrs. Sharp conducted a Bible quiz and Mrs. Jury gave a reading, "Holy Grail" was offered as a reading by Mrs. King.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dreisbach, Mrs. John Madux, and Miss Maud Brown.

Mrs. Brintlinger Hostess To Circle

Circle 4 of the Women's Society of Christian Service met at the home of Mrs. Roland Brintlinger, Scioto street, Wednesday evening. Mrs. John Magill, group chairman, was in charge of the business session.

The worship service was led by Mrs. L. S. Lytle. The theme of the service was "Peace Through His Cross". The group repeated the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. E. W. Hedges, reviewed a few chapters of the book, "Cross Over Africa" by Newell S. Booth. Mrs. Frank Morrison assisted Mrs. Brintlinger in serving refreshments to the guests.

Mrs. Melvin Kiger and the two honor guests. Following the dinner the group went to the home of Mrs. Kiger, North Court street, where they spent the evening.

Saltcreek Valley Grange In Session

Saltcreek Valley grange met Tuesday evening. It was decided at this time the prune bread and kitchen curtain contest will be held at the next meeting.

An answer was made to a grange appeal. Gail Heffner and Raymond Hedges were reported on the sick list.

Mrs. Raymond Hedges and Mrs. Ray Fraunfelder were appointed to help with the Memorial program to be held at the next meeting. Announcement was made of the Pomona grange to take place at Washington township, May 18.

An auction sale of flower bulbs and a box social were held. "Old Folks at Home" was sung by the group to open the program. Mrs. Randolph Wolfe, lecturer, was in charge of the program. She read two articles sent from Japan by her son, Edward.

Robert DeLong gave two readings for Mother's Day and Gift Macklin played a piano solo, "It's Good to Have a Mother" was given as a reading by Jimmy Bob Armstrong, and Sally Ann Armstrong offered "Flowers for Mother's" Wayne Luckhart sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." At the close of the program "Tributes to my Beloved Mother" was given by Richard Rhymer.

Thirty five members and guests were present.

Past Chiefs Club Has Dinner Meeting

Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, entertained the members of the Past Chiefs club at Mrs. Marion's Party home, Wednesday evening.

A short business session was held following the dinner and it was decided that Mrs. Frank Davis will be hostess for the June meeting of the club.

NEW FLAME GUN IS SUGGESTED TO BORED WIVES

New Gadget Even Safe For Husbands To Use In Killing Weeds

NEW YORK, May 8.—Life for the housewife in this postwar world will be quite an exciting thing—right in her own back yard—if she wants it that way. If hubby is a bore, and no hot-shot around the house, she can always turn to the new flame gun. It was exhibited today at the modern homes exhibition at Manhattan's Grand Central palace, and it's quite a gadget. It looks something like the Army's flame-throwers, and operates about the same way. It uses kerosene for fuel, tosses out a three-inch flame over a 30-inch space and burns at 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit. It doesn't have to burn weeds. They just shrivel up and will away before the flame even touches them. "It's safe for kids, women, or even husbands," said C. G. Carlson, who is demonstrating it at the show. "Of course, you could make a mistake and burn down your barn with it, or start a brush fire, but you could do that just as easily with a match. Carlson figures that there won't be a weed on your place if you put a flame gun in the hands of the little woman and tell her to get going. You can buy the junior size, which holds four gallons, or the senior size, which carries five. They also have chimneys which operate without electricity. They're so modern that they're old-fashioned. You push the door button and it hits the chimneys, which are attached to the wall just behind the door. Then there's a new electric iron which weighs only two and a half pounds and knows the difference between six different materials. It has a small switch with the materials listed on it. If you are ironing silk, you just turn the little pointer to "silk." Then, if the postman rings twice, you can go to the door and stay as long as you like. When you return, there'll be no holes in your silk—or so they claim.

MAY 25 IS SET AS BUDDY POPPY DAY IN CITY

Mayor Ben H. Gordon Thursday proclaimed Saturday, May 25, as "Buddy Poppy Day" in Cincinnati. The proclamation states: "Whereas, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in 1922 adopted the Buddy Poppy as America's flower of remembrance and ever since has staged its annual nationwide sale of red blossoms and "Whereas, the purposes of this campaign to raise funds are dedicated exclusively to the aid, care and rehabilitation of the nations needy and disabled war veterans, their dependents and the widows and orphans of America's deceased heroes of foreign conflicts, and, "Whereas, this nationwide movement has been given high approval and enthusiastic endorsement of every President of the United States since 1923, therefore "BE IT RESOLVED, that the 25th day of May, 1946, is hereby set aside in memory of those veterans and designated as "Buddy Poppy Day" in the city of Cincinnati, Ohio and that every citizen of this community is urged to show his patriotism by contributing generously when purchasing a Buddy Poppy for wearing on Memorial Day in honor of those who have given so much for our country in time of war."

The average American family consumes about a pound and a half of spices each year, all of which are imported, says Ships magazine. Of the estimated 50,000 tons, almost one-third is pepper.

Our dealers join us in making this frank report to THE FARMERS OF AMERICA

INTERNATIONAL Harvester is getting back into production with all possible speed. Extra shifts are being employed wherever conditions permit, to try to overcome the production losses of the recent strike. Everything is being done to get parts and machines to you. While we and our dealers would like to tell you that this means an immediate end to the shortage of service parts and machines, it is more accurate to say that it means the beginning of the end of it. If illness or bad weather delays you seriously in the Spring, you know how much it throws you off your schedule. The strike has thrown our schedules off balance, too. There are many "chores" we must do before new machines reach you.

Material shortages The preliminary chores of getting our plants back into shape for full production are finished. But disturbances in other industries and resulting material shortages may affect our plans. Light gauge steel sheets, brass and copper, fractional horse power motors, and many other items are all very short. The coal situation may also prove serious—use hope not.

Refilling the well Both our dealers and our branches have run dry on parts and new machines. So the biggest chore is to get their working stocks back to normal. It will take time to fill the pipeline to dealers—just as it takes time for you to refill a well or cistern after it has run dry. Stock and display rooms of our dealers represent not one, but ten thousand reservoirs which must be refilled. The most heroic pro-

NEW FLAME GUN IS SUGGESTED TO BORED WIVES

New Gadget Even Safe For Husbands To Use In Killing Weeds

NEW YORK, May 9.—Life for the housewife in this postwar world will be quite an exciting thing—right in her own back yard—if she wants it that way.

If hubby is a bore, and no hot-shot around the house, she can always turn to the new flame gun.

It was exhibited today at the modern homes exhibition at Manhattan's Grand Central palace, and it's quite a gadget. It looks something like the Army's flame-throwers, and operates about the same way.

It uses kerosene for fuel, tosses out a three-inch flame over a 30-inch space and burns at 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit. It doesn't have to burn weeds. They just shrivel up and will away before the flame even touches them.

"It's safe for kids, women, or even husbands," said C. G. Carlson, who is demonstrating it at the show. "Of course, you could make a mistake and burn down your barn with it, or start a brush fire, but you could do that just as easily with a match."

Carlson figures that there won't be a weed on your place if you put a flame gun in the hands of the little woman and tell her to get going.

You can buy the junior size, which holds four gallons, or the senior size, which carries five.

They also have chimneys which operate without electricity. They're so modern that they're old-fashioned. You push the door button and it hits the chimneys, which are attached to the wall just behind the door.

Then there's a new electric iron which weighs only two and a half pounds and knows the difference between six different materials. It has a small switch with the materials listed on it. If you are ironing silk, you just turn the little pointer to "silk." Then, if the postman rings twice, you can go to the door and stay as long as you like. When you return, there'll be no holes in your silk—or so they claim.

DO NOT FIND FIRE

Firemen were summoned at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday to Franklin and Washington streets where an automobile was reported ablaze. However, when they arrived there was no fire. Identity of the owner of the car was undetermined.

MAY 25 IS SET AS BUDDY POPPY DAY IN CITY

Mayor Ben H. Gordon Thursday proclaimed Saturday, May 25, as "Buddy Poppy Day" in Cincinnati.

The proclamation states: "Whereas, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States in 1922 adopted the Buddy Poppy as America's flower of remembrance and ever since has staged its annual nationwide sale of red blossoms and

"Whereas, the purposes of this campaign to raise funds are dedicated exclusively to the aid, care and rehabilitation of the nations needy and disabled war veterans, their dependents and the widows and orphans of America's deceased heroes of foreign conflicts, and

"Whereas, this nationwide movement has been given high approval and enthusiastic endorsement of every President of the United States since 1923, therefore

"BE IT RESOLVED, that the 25th day of May, 1946, is hereby set aside in memory of those veterans and designated as "Buddy Poppy Day" in the city of Cincinnati, Ohio and that every citizen of this community is urged to show his patriotism by contributing generously when purchasing a Buddy Poppy for wearing on Memorial Day in honor of those who have given so much for our country in time of war."

The average American family consumes about a pound and a half of spices each year, all of which are imported, says Ships magazine. Of the estimated 50,000 tons, almost one-third is pepper.

Seven states are using aluminum automobile license plates for 1946. They are Connecticut, Rhode Island, Washington, Oregon, Arkansas, Virginia and South Dakota.

Our dealers join us in making this frank report to THE FARMERS OF AMERICA

INTERNATIONAL Harvester is getting back into production with all possible speed. Extra shifts are being employed wherever conditions permit, to try to overcome the production losses of the recent strike. Everything is being done to get parts and machines to you.

While we and our dealers would like to tell you that this means an immediate end to the shortage of service parts and machines, it is more accurate to say that it means the beginning of the end of it. If illness or bad weather delays you seriously in the Spring, you know how much it throws off your schedule. The strike has thrown our schedules off balance, too. There are many "chores" we must do before new machines reach you.

Material shortages

The preliminary chores of getting our plants back into shape for full production are finished. But disturbances in other industries and resulting material shortages may affect our plans. Light gauge steel sheets, brass and copper, fractional horse power motors, and many other items are all very short. The coal situation may also prove serious—we hope not.

Refilling the well

Both our dealers and our branches have run dry on parts and new machines. So the biggest chore is to get their working stocks back to normal. It will take time to fill the pipeline to dealers—just as it takes time for you to refill a well or cistern after it has run dry.

Stock and display rooms of our dealers represent not one, but ten thousand reservoirs which must be refilled. The most heroic production efforts will mean that your local dealer can expect only a small number of parts and machines at a time. Since we must play fair with all our customers, there will be a sprinkle of parts and machines all over the country—not a downpour in any one section.

You will be glad to know that all repair parts production schedules are far beyond normal.

No hoarding

You may be sure that every machine will be shipped to dealers as soon as completed. We do not and will not hold machines off the market.

At the start of the strike we had on hand at all our factories and branches just 837 tractors of all kinds—less than two days' production—and 405 of these were not completed. Many of those on hand had one or more important parts missing—principally radiator cores. Most of the rest represented the normal daily "float" between the end of the assembly line and the shipping platform. Naturally no tractors were made during the strike.

What dealers may have for you

We can report to you that our current production on TRACTORS is good and we are shipping at a normal rate. Even so, there will not be enough to go around. The situation on FLOWS and DISK HARROWS is reasonably good. On COMBINES, MOWERS, HAY RAKES, ONE-MAN HAY BALERS, CORN PICKERS and many other items, our schedules have been seriously disrupted. We must in fairness say that many of our customers are likely to be disappointed on delivery of these machines. On MILKING MACHINES, STATIONARY ENGINES, and some other small units we are hopeful of making practically normal delivery.

We know you will understand the reasons why your dealer cannot fill your orders overnight. He would like to give you the kind of delivery on machines you would like to get, but his situation is a difficult one and not of his own making. He is doing the best he can.

No cutting corners on quality

There is one thing you can be absolutely certain about: We will NOT cut corners on quality in order to increase production in this emergency. For years we have said: "QUALITY IS THE FOUNDATION OF OUR BUSINESS." Today we say it—and mean it—as much as ever.

We know you need new machines—and need them badly. But we believe it will pay you to wait just a little while longer if you cannot get all you want immediately. By waiting you can be sure your new equipment will have the quality so rightly associated with INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER for so many years.

with recognition services to reward those who have made notable attainment in scholarship and other school activities. It will include the history, will, prophecy, poem, and other numbers by the senior class along with the presentation of awards to students.

The baccalaureate sermon will be given by Rev. Dwight Woodworth in the Methodist church. The Reverends O. W. Smith and H. D. Fudge will assist in the services. Music will be furnished by the high school girls' ensemble.

The eighth grade commencement, held on the morning of the last day of school, will find 28 pupils of that grade ready to receive certificates of promotion to high school. Other features of the program include an address by a speaker and numbers by members of the class.

Twenty-seven seniors, 14 girls and 13 boys, will receive diplomas of graduation at the 50th annual commencement of Ashville high school, now Ashville - Harrison joint high school, Thursday, May 23, at 8:15 p. m. Dr. Roderick Peattie, professor of geography at Ohio State University, will give the commencement address. Student speeches and music by the high school orchestra, directed by Fred Brobst, will round out the program.

All of these functions are admission-free except that a free-will offering will be taken at the Music Festival.

The students' schedule for the last week of school will be semester final examinations, Monday and Tuesday, the 20th and 21st. No classes Wednesday and dismissal after eighth year commencement, Thursday forenoon.

CHS TEAM IN TIE FOR SCO TRACK TITLE

Washington And Locals End Annual Meet With 53 Points Each

Circleville high school track team tied for first with Washington C. H. for the South Central Ohio league 1946 track championship Wednesday at Washington C. H.

Each of the teams had 53 points. Greenfield was third with 25 and Wilmington fourth with 23.

This is the third straight year Circleville tracksters have finished at or near the top of the league meet. Last year Circleville won and the year before lost the title by one point.

Some bad luck cut down the Circleville scoring. David "Red" Crawford suffered a pulled muscle in the half mile run and finished fourth, instead of winning the event as he usually does. He was unable to run the mile because of the sore leg.

Rod Heine was the high point man of the meet. He won the 220-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles, tied for first in the high jump and placed second in the 100-yard dash for 17 points.

Circleville took six firsts. Earl Palm won the shot put and was third in the mile; Jim Carter won the 440-yard dash and was anchor man on the mile relay team; Harry Conley won the discus.

The local team was trailing Washington by three points going into the final event, the mile relay. Jack Stout, Leonard Hill, Jack Palm and Carter took the event in easy fashion and Washington placed third to end the meet in a tie.

Circleville brought home a large team trophy and all first place winners were awarded medals. Ribbons went to second, third and fourth places.

ISALY'S 9 WINS THRILLER FROM RICHARDS TEAM

Losing Pitcher Liston Gives Up Only Three Hits; Greeno Hits Homer

Isaly's softball players, taking advantage of their few opportunities, scored a 3-2 victory over Richards Implement team in Wednesday night's Night Softball league game.

Adrian Liston and Dick Wellington pitched good ball games. Liston, on the mound for Richards, allowed only three hits, one a double by Minor, but errors and a slight touch of wildness beat him. Wellington gave up five hits, one a homer by Greeno. Each struck out 10.

Isaly's started with two runs in the first. "Jaggy" Davis was safe on an error; "Wink" got a hit and Davis scored on Jim Toole's infield out. Wellington came in on a wild pitch. In the third Davis was hit by Liston, advanced on an error and scored on Toole's hit.

In the fourth Richards got both runs. Kenney got a hit then came home when Greeno's fly ball went for a home run. In the seventh the implement men threatened when the first three men up got on base. Luckhart singled but was thrown out trying to steal second. Congrove walked and Liston singled but Congrove was thrown out trying to make third on the hit.

ST. PAUL HOLDS TOP AA SPOT; BIRDS STOPPED

By United Press
St. Paul, aided by the defending champion Milwaukee Brewers, was in sole possession of first place in the American Association today, a full game ahead of Louisville.

The Saints and Colonels were percentage points apart going into yesterday's games and then Milwaukee trimmed Louisville 4-3 and St. Paul beat Toledo 6-3 in a night contest. Minneapolis also climbed in the standings, advancing to sixth place on a 9-2 victory over third-place Indianapolis while Kansas City was dropping Columbus 4-2.

The Saints tallied four runs in the 3rd inning on Eric Tipton's and Leigh Kimball's home runs and that was all Dick Lanahan needed to defeat the Mud Hens at St. Paul.

One of the biggest men in baseball, 6 foot, 4 inches, 220-pound Carl Derosé held Columbus to four hits at Kansas City. The towering Blues pitcher had a shutout going into the final inning when the Red Birds jumped him for two runs but he tightened to hold the victory safe. The defeat dropped Columbus to seventh place, two games ahead of cellarite Kansas City.

President James Madison's famous wife, Dolly, was a Quaker, and a daughter of the noted North Carolina Payne family.

CHS TEAM IN TIE FOR SCO TRACK TITLE

Washington And Locals End Annual Meet With 53 Points Each

Circleville high school track team tied for first with Washington C. H. for the South Central Ohio league 1946 track championship Wednesday at Washington C. H.

Each of the teams had 53 points. Greenfield was third with 25 and Wilmington fourth with 23.

This is the third straight year Circleville tracksters have finished at or near the top of the league meet. Last year Circleville won and the year before lost the title by one point.

Some bad luck cut down the Circleville scoring. David "Red" Crawford suffered a pulled muscle in the half mile run and finished fourth, instead of winning the event as he usually does. He was unable to run the mile because of the sore leg.

Rod Heine was the high point man of the meet. He won the 220-yard dash, 220-yard low hurdles, tied for first in the high jump and placed second in the 100-yard dash for 17 points.

Circleville took six firsts. Earl Palm won the shot put and was third in the mile; Jim Carter won the 440-yard dash and was anchor man on the mile relay team; Harry Conley won the discus.

The local team was trailing Washington by three points going into the final event, the mile relay. Jack Stout, Leonard Hill, Jack Palm and Carter took the event in easy fashion and Washington tied third to end the meet in a tie.

Circleville brought home a large team trophy and all first place winners were awarded medals. Ribbons went to second, third and fourth places.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Court this 25th day of April, 1946.

STERLING M. LAMB Probate Judge.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS Sealed proposals will be received at the Office of Washington Township clerk, William J. Goode, clerk, located in said Washington Township, Pickaway County, Ohio, until 8:00 o'clock P. M. Circleville Time May 24th, 1946, for the construction of a new road, to be known as Road No. 1, from the intersection of Road No. 2 to the intersection of Road No. 3. The road to be constructed is 12 feet wide and 12 feet deep. The road to be constructed is 12 feet wide and 12 feet deep. The road to be constructed is 12 feet wide and 12 feet deep.

Well, I agree with the above mentioned statements; but when ever the chance has arisen I have tried to do something about them, other than just shooting off my bazooka criticizing the Chamber of Commerce and other business-groups for helping to kill a lot of good issues that have come up from time to time. If I were among that majority that killed the School Bond Issue at the polls Tuesday, I would try kicking my own fanny and lay off kicking those of any group or organization.

Here are a couple of the things that were defeated by those who were either too tired to vote or voted against the issue: For those who complain that there are no available jobs in Circleville there would have been created a considerable amount of work on construction. Jobs for the common laborer and those with skills, and money earned that would have gone through the various channels of trade.

For those who agree that Mr. Zanglein is one of the best instructors that can be found anywhere, and who does an admirable job with the little he has to work with. With the additional tools and facilities the Bond Issue would have provided, I am confident that he could have done a great service for those who must get their educations from the Public Schools alone.

There were a lot of other benefits to be derived from the Issue that the public should know of as well as I do, as it was made acquainted with all the facts before-hand. I cannot think of but one group the Bond Issue would have hurt, and that was the taxpayer.

God only knows that the prices he is getting for his rents and the sales of his property, he could have taken care of the small additional tax that would have been levied.

Now, in summing the whole thing up: I am led to believe that no one group or groups are responsible for Circleville's inability to progress, and the blame can only be laid to the people of Circleville themselves. I wonder if the Indians could be induced to take it back.

PROBATE COURT NOTICE All interested parties are hereby notified that the following named Executors, Administrators, and Guardians have filed their inventory and appraisements in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

1. Ben B. Morrison, Administrator of the Estate of Harry W. Fridley, deceased.
2. Lillie Dumm, Administratrix of the Estate of Vossie Dumm, deceased.
3. Almee C. Landis, Executrix of the Estate of Edmund R. Landis, deceased.
And that said inventory and appraisements will be for hearing before this Probate Court on Monday, May 20th, 1946, at 9 o'clock a. m. Witness my hand and the seal of said Probate Court, this 2nd day of May, 1946.

'BUILDING' IS SUBJECT FOR METHODIST MEN

"Building Together" was the subject of an inspirational talk given by Maynard Sensenbrenner, Columbus, former Circleville resident, at a meeting of the Methodist Brotherhood Wednesday evening in the church basement.

He stated that a brotherhood that does nothing is worth nothing. He urged the men to work together for the advancement of church work. He said that a group of men working together could build up the church and pointed to the tasks accomplished by laymen's groups in various churches.

Elliott Barnhill, president of the Brotherhood, presided at the meeting, following a dinner prepared by women of the church. Ed Sensenbrenner, father of the speaker, was introduced as a guest of the group. Group singing was led by Mr. Barnhill with Richard Plum accompanying at the piano.

It was announced that the June meeting would be a joint session with the women of the church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What is the matter with the people of Circleville? What kind of logic did they use to defeat the School Bond Issue at the polls Tuesday? Was it the same reasoning that has kept Circleville from progressing when it has had the chances of becoming one of the best small towns in the State of Ohio?

Prior to election-day I had the opportunity to talk to a good many people on the subject and was surprised to find that so many were against it, people who were always mouthing-off about Circleville being at a standstill, a town that does not furnish enough jobs for the people living in it; those who say that Circleville is no more than a suburb of Columbus as a large part of its population works there.

Well, I agree with the above mentioned statements; but when ever the chance has arisen I have tried to do something about them, other than just shooting off my bazooka criticizing the Chamber of Commerce and other business-groups for helping to kill a lot of good issues that have come up from time to time. If I were among that majority that killed the School Bond Issue at the polls Tuesday, I would try kicking my own fanny and lay off kicking those of any group or organization.
